Accountability

Accountability is the requirement to explain and accept responsibility for carrying out an assigned mandate in light of agreed upon expectations.

- Panel on Accountability and Governance in the Voluntary Sector (1999)

Accountability

- Externally imposed
 - Legal requirements
 - Funding requirements
 - Donors expectations
- Self-regulated
 - Management practices
 - Governance practices

Transparency

Transparency is the commitment to communicate to stakeholders by publishing or making available critical information about finances, governance and program outcomes.

What are you accountable for?

- Mission / Purposes
- Governance
- Finances
- Compliance to legal requirements - (federal and provincial)
 - Legal status
 - Operations
 - Reporting
- Program outcomes

Who are you accountable to?

- users / clients
- donors
- funders
- government
- Members
- Staff
- volunteers
- public
- suppliers

Mission/Purpose

- Has to be in principle the same as the stated objects in your registration as a charity with CRA and in your incorporation document;
- Substantial changes to your mission have to be approved by your membership and by CRA.

Governance/Leadership

- Board of directors
- Management
 - General operations
 - Finances
 - Human resources
 - Fundraising and Donor relations
- Reporting

Board of Directors

The board of directors is ultimately responsible for the charity regardless of its board governance model.

- Standard of care

- Duty of care

 - Act competently, diligently and loyally

- Avoid and declare conflict of interest

Conflict of Interest

- Can be real or perceived;
- between the director's personal interest and the interest of the organization;
- duties that the director owes to the charity and to another organization;
- between directors, between director and staff (non-arms length);
- Not limited to financial (pecuniary);

Responsibility of the Board

The Board is responsible for approving and reviewing the charity's

- mission and strategic direction
- Annual budget
- Major financial transactions
- Legal compliance
- Fiscal and governance policies

Program Activities

- Your activities are the means to further your mission;
- For registered charities, changes in program activities have to be discussed with CRA;
- Your stakeholders expect to know your program outcomes;

Program Outcomes

To determine program outcomes, the charity needs to:

- have an evaluation process to monitor and measure the outcomes of its program activities;
- Include the process during the planning of the program;

Outcome-Based Evaluation

- Logic model

Outcome-Based Evaluation

General steps:

- Identify outcome goals;
- Choose indicators;
- Identify ways to measure outcome goals;
- Collect and analyze the data;
- Communicate results to stakeholders;
- Use results to improve future program activities.

Financial Management

Stakeholders want to know that funds are managed responsibly:

- Funds are mainly used for direct program activities, i.e. charitable activities;
- Funds from specific funders are used for the stated purpose;
- Revenues and Expenses are accurately accounted for;

Financial Management

To be financially accountable, charities have to:

- Keep financial records in accordance with accepted accounting standards and CRA requirements
- Track and aggregate expenses -- administrative expenses, program expenses, fundraising expenses, political activities expenses; (T3010)
- Be able to meet financial reporting requirements of legislators, funders and donors;
